"ALIMONY" TO BE SEEN HERE

Manager Johnston of the Rex theatre has secured local exhibition rights of "Alimony," which deals with one of the most momentous problems now confronting American society. It has an all star cast of players, headed by Lois Wilson, Josephine Whittell and George Fisher in the leading roles.

"Alimony" is from the pen of Hayden Talbot, the well known young playwright who has to his credit a number of American and European successes of the speaking stage. It is a smashing big drama dealing as the title indicates, with the subject of divorce and containing an eloquent plea for the elimination of those acts of legislature that permit unscrupulous lawyers to win "easy money" divorce decrees, through the medium of the referee system. Woven around a compelling document, it proves to be a startling expose and points the finger of accusation at several easily recognizable attorneys who to-day are reaping harvests from the dishonest methods which the laws of certain states uphold.

Of his subject matter, Talbot says: "In Alimony, I think I have written an argument that ought make people think and think hard. I have striven to put into an entertaining screen play the many surprising and shameful facts concerning the evils of certain divorce laws, with which I came into contact during my career as a newspaper man. I promised myself several years ago that I would put on paper what I had learned from my observations, and 'Alimony' is the result of my efforts. If it should succeed in its purpose to lift the curtain of ignorance and reveal to public gaze the astounding way in which countless divorces, absolutely unwarranted, are granted—because of the laws which govern them—I shall feel that my task has not been in vain. This great play will be at the Rex Exhibition nights, Thursday and Friday.

WHICH—THE KAISER OR THE ACTOR? TALKING ABOUT THE KAISER THE BEST OF DURING At Veteran Friday and Saturday.

THE WISER WAY

At a gathering of Conservative members of the Alberta Legislature in Edmonton the other day some discussion took place concerning the appointment of a permanent successor to senator E. E. Michener as leader of the party in this province. Some gentlemen of the party were inclined to the view that a leader should be chosen by the members, but wiser counsels prevailed and no action was taken. It is well that is so.

Conservative members of the legislature are quite within their rights when they name temporary leaders to take over the session; they would be assuming a power that does not belong to them were they to name a permanent leader. That privilege rests with the party convention regularly called and representative of the party rank and file throughout the province.

So far as we can see there is no immediate necessity for the naming of a permanent leader of the party. While the war is in progress, a trace, more or less effective exists between the parties at Edmonton, and so far as the conservatives are concerned, they are pledged to "carry on" in every way possible with war effort, leaving politics severely alone at least until the victory of Allied arms is in sight.

The situation lends itself peculiarly well to the party need at the moment. There being no political call for haste, it will be possible for the rank and file to consider carefully the merits and qualifications of candidates for permanent leadership. The work of the sessions should show who the strong men of the party are and all in good time a party convention

A PERSISTENT LIE

Baron Burian, Austro-Hungarian foreign minister tells us that warfare and diplomacy serve the same end in time of war. This explanation from him was unnecessary. The world has been watching the progress of German diplomacy during the war and is well aware that one is made to serve the aim of the other. And that it why the world is so skeptical of German aims and ambitions as outlined by Baron Burian and others. Convinced at the outset that the war was forced by Germany with the idea of securing world domination, there has been nothing in the track of Hun diplomacy since that would alter the conviction.

The wily diplomacy of the Germans has stopped at nothing, no matter how base to achieve the war aim of the Hohenzollerns. It was this brand of diplomacy that finally forced the United States to break with Germany. It was this diplomacy that deluded the Russian people and brought about the false peace of Brest-Litovsk. It was this diplomacy that showed its teeth to Roumania when that country was down and out and which dictated peace terms most humiliating. Oh, yes; the world is well aware of the quality of German diplomacy and is the more convinced because of it that it has made no mistake as to what Germany hoped to achieve as a result of the war.

And it is because of this knowledge the world will look with suspicion upon the claim of Baron Burian that the only thing the Central powers are now fighting for is the security necessary for their future peaceful existence. That is but an echo of similar statements made before Russia ceased to be a factor in the war, and we knew very well what source of peaceful security the Germans are aiming at with respect to Russia—nothing short of the Germanization of all the most productive provinces.

With the baron's statement that the war is nothing but senseless and purposeless bloodshed there will be full agreement among the Allies. They knew that from the first and made every possible effort to avert it. That the bloodshed may be ended at any moment by the "re-emergence of feelings of humanity in our enemies," as the baron puts it, is something quite different. He is an intelligent man and it is impossible to think that he believes anything of the sort. That part of his speech is merely a reiteration in another form of the persistent lie being fed to the people of Germany and Austria-Hungary in order to hold them in line for further war sacrifice. It is not believed by the intelligent Socialist leaders of Germany and it is unlikely that the starving people of the baron's own country will swallow it.

ARGENTINE CABINET MAY RESIGN IN BODY

Buenos Aires, July 18. Domingo Saladrrey, minister of finance has resigned and it is expected in well informed government circles that similar action will be taken by Eladio Gonzalez, minister of war, and Premier Ramon Garmez, who is also minister of the interior. It is even expected that the entire cabinet may resign from office.

The cabinet met last night to consider the advisability of resigning in a body so that President Irigoyen might move more freely in the formation of a new cabinet.

The crisis is due to internal questions principally public expenditures.

GEN GOURAUD HERO WHO BARRED THE WAY OF THE CROWN PRINCE

With the French forces in France, July 17.—General Gouraud, the hero of the Dardanelles, was the French commander who barred the advance of the German Crown Prince in the Champagne. It was he, who, to the east of Reims, in one day brought the host of Germans to a standstill. This was done with only comparatively insignificant losses among his own men.

About twenty army divisions have been identified in first line of this sector of the front alone. By the end of the first day of fighting, half of these divisions had been badly mauled. The precaution the French had taken before the Teuton offensive began was such that the Germans were unable to capture a single prisoner in the Champagne during the several days preceding the attack. Germans were thus deprived of the possibility of obtaining information regarding the French plans.

When the German artillery preparation started on the night of 14th the flashes from thousands of guns were so vivid that they lighted up the streets of Chalons, nearly twenty miles from the front. The French replied with equally powerful fire, and everything for miles trembled until dawn, when enemy infantry came over. The advancing waves were of great density, giving the hundreds of French 75's a point blank target.

At the same time small centres of resistance composed of French advanced posts opened fire with machine guns, which did terrible execution.

These isolated detachments held up the enemy masses for several hours, giving ample time for their comrades guarding the line of resistance to organize and to bring into play, all their means of defence.

Then they retired slowly, at times being compelled to fight strong bodies of the enemy, who had succeeded in passing their positions.

Lieut. Transhard with 25 men, was caught between the French and German barrages and remained fighting half the day. He then cut his way through the enemy's lines at the point of the bayonet and received the Legion of Honor on the field.

The perfect execution of Gen. Gouraud's defence plans prevented enemy from making a breach at any point on this sector, although during 24 hours the German Crown Prince sent three incessantly renewed waves of his best troops forward in determination to get through to Chalons.

Paris, July 17.—After being permitted to print the information last night that Gen. Gouraud, of Dardanelles fame, was commanding the French sector between Reims and Massiges, the Paris papers today are allowed to reveal the fact that Gen. Henri Berthelot, who headed the French military mission to Rumania, is now commanding the Franco-Italian army in the sector between the Marne and Reims.

SUSPICION THAT GERMANS NOT DOING THEIR BEST

British Headquarters in France, July 17.—For once the German weather experts have been at fault. Bad weather has doubtless accentuated the comparative failure of the offensive, otherwise there might have been something suspicious in the little progress made to the east of Reims. Even conceding everything to the gallantry of the French and the foresight of their leaders, the progress made was puzzling, except on the ground that no further progress was intended, the attack being a mere holding on to attract reserves from other areas. Even on the Marne, the enemy's successes is nothing like what it ought to have been considering that this is probably the final bid for victory. What does the enemy's apparent economy of his fighting forces portend, unless the adventure is preliminary to a more important attempt elsewhere, which, if attempted and foiled, may well prove decisive.

RESTRAINED TONE SHOWS FAILURE

London, July 17.—If there was no other evidence, the restrained tone of the German communiqué alone would show what little success the enemy's offensive achieved. Indeed, no great offensive hitherto has been so barren of initial results. It cannot yet be said that the enemy has failed but his definite failure is more probable and the legend of "irresistible" force of the first German onslaught has already been destroyed.

It is clear that the allies have profited by their experience, notably by greatly extending the area of the covering defence zone. The unity of command is proving decidedly effective.

How well the French have the situation in hand is proved by the fact that east of Reims, they retired to their lines without losing a gun, while west of Reims, the progress of the Germans was so limited that their positions, with the river immediately behind were incessantly bombed.

Newspapers emphasize as a momentous feature to the battle, the conduct of the Americans, who more than fulfilled the brilliant promise of previous minor engagements, shattering the belief fostered by the enemy peoples that the war would be over before the American factor became a reality.

"INTOLERANCE"

D. W. Griffiths magnificent spectacle, "Intolerance," the season's biggest hit in New York, is coming to the Veteran Theatre for a rare well deserved engagement at popular prices for one night only, Thursday, July 25th. In every way the production which will be shown here will be the same as the Broadway one including the original musical score and orchestra.

Spectacular wonders of "Intolerance" have never been equalled, possibly never will be, because of the appalling cost of their production. Only a director like Mr. Griffith who had millions of dollars at his command could have attempted the reconstruction of Ancient Babylon, a city famed for its colossal architectural structures, its grandeur and its life of prodigious luxury. This Babylonian episode, which cost more than any entire spectacle ever produced, is but one fourth of "Intolerance."

PRESERVING FRUITS
CHERRIES, APRICOTS, RASPBERRIESCANADIANS ARE ASKED TO BE FAIR IN JUDGMENT

An appeal for a fair viewpoint regarding the moral standard of the people of England has been sent out to the Canadian Press by the Hon. Mrs. Graham, O.B.A. from London England, as a result of the adverse criticism which has been rife since the nauseating "Penherton-Billing" case. The letter follows:

Two days ago a young Canadian came to see me. After discussing various matters we got to the "Billing" case. He remarked "how terrible it was that the people of England were so immoral and depraved." Well now I would like to say on behalf of the people of this country that the "Billing" case does not in the least represent "the people of England," any more than women of this country are represented by the prostitutes (50 per cent foreigners) who prey on our boys in khaki. As regards the mysterious book mentioned in the "Billing" trial, I am not discussing it as its existence has hardly been proved. But what is the population of the British Isles? Over 45,000,000. Out of that there were mentioned in the "Billing" case about 50 people who entertained Maud Allan or were entertained by her and 50 more who attended the trial, and even if the court had been full over and over again of these people, in what proportion would they have been to such a population as 45 millions? Disgusting and disgraceful as this is, it is not representative of us as a nation, and it seems tragic that we should be judged more by the frailties of the few than by the deeds of the many. There are millions of men and women in England that Canada may rightly be proud of, but they do not figure in law courts or in newspapers.

May I mention a young and charming countess whose husband is at the front and who has left her children and home for 3½ years to act as secretary maid in the Red Cross Hospital at home, and supports, preferring the humble role to that of superintendent of matron, as she does not consider herself "good enough" for a more exalted post.

I am glad also to number among my friends an old Country woman in a tiny village over 80 years of age who, in addition to keeping her cottage spotlessly clean and doing all the cooking herself, insists on working over nine hours a day on the land "to back up the boys at the front and help the food supply." I could give you thousands of other instances like these but do you read them in the papers? Of course not.

I am not attempting to touch on the mothers and wives who have cheerfully given their "all" or the women who act as nurses, or clerks, ambulance drivers, etc.

Wrens, the workers in hundreds of canteens and hospitals, an army drawn from the highest in the land to the lowest, and whose bravery and untiring devotion is not confined to a few hundreds. These are representative British women; these are the ones that have earned and should have a place in the hearts of our Gallant Canadian boys over and over are thousands of miles apart, not to remember us by the unfortunate girl who accented them in the street, or by the soldier details of a little action, but by what the women of the mother land have accomplished in this war what they have dared and what they have done.

EVA GRAHAM MURRAY, London England, June 22nd.

Constance Talmadge in "Intolerance at Veteran, Thurs. July 25.

PONOKA MAN

ELECTROCUTED

Ponoka, July 20.—A sad tragedy was enacted in Ponoka about midnight when, when Landy Headley proprietor of the Empress theatre was killed through coming in contact with a live wire. The picture show had just closed and a dance was to follow. Mr. Headley left the theatre for the Hotel Leland to bring drinking water while Mrs. Headley busied herself sweeping the floor. Some time passed and Headley not putting in an appearance his wife left in search and on nearing the hotel found him lying on the ground.

Calling for assistance, her son-in-law J. F. Few, was soon on hand, and on his touching the body received a severe shock. It was Mrs. Headley's turn next and all three lay in a heap. On medical aid arriving it was found that life was extinct in the case of Mr. Headley, while the other two were in a very serious condition and it was fully half an hour before they were revived.

WHAT A TORONTO PAPER SAYS OF "BIRTH"

Yesterday afternoon the first presentation of the big educational film "Birth" was given before a large audience at Massey Hall composed of women interested in the scientific care of children. The picture which was filmed in one of New York's biggest hospitals, was accompanied by an instructive lecture by Mrs. Stuart on "Motherhood." "Birth" is primarily a film dealing with the advent of a child into the world and the care with which it must be tended during the first months of its existence. The scientific preparation of milk, the bathing, dressing and feeding of these tiny mites of humanity are duly shown in a series of attractive pictures filmed and great airy hospital wards, flooded with sunshine and the calm infantile competency. The picture teaches much, and reveals what modern science can do towards lowering the rates of infant mortality. Moreover, "Birth" has been pronounced authentic by some of the greatest medical experts in the world and should be seen by every mother.

"Birth" will be shown at Rex Theatre for women only, Friday August 9th.

STOP THIS GAME

It is not often that it is possible to kill profiteering at its birth, but such an opportunity occurs at this moment, with regard to the hay supply for our Alberta Cattle. In the Lesser Slave Lake district there are, according to government and other statistics, 100,000 tons of the finest blue joint and red top hay, growing round and near the shores of the lake of that name. The farmers and settlers of the district sold the same hay last year for $13.00 a ton F.O.B. at Swan Lake station from which place the freight rate to Calgary was $6.40. We understand that an arrangement has either been made or is being made by the government with the railway companies whereby by this hay so much needed in southern Alberta will be carried at a nominal figure from the shipping point to the south country, considering the quality of hay, the price of everything needed for the men employed, this price can be regarded as very moderate, leaving as it will a fair profit to the rancher and ensuring a supply of good feed to the cattle owner in the south.

Had these farmer hay cutters been allowed to deal directly with the consumer in the south, at the present when they were willing to sell this hay, namely $15.00 a ton, the feed hoggy would have been in a large measure lost. The profiteering shark, however, is always on the lookout to profit by the necessity of the unfortunate and dozens of these gentry have already invaded the north country and a very large percentage of the crop has already been contracted for by them at the figure put up by the owners, namely $15 a ton. One man has secured according to reliable information furnished 7,000 tons, while others are in on the ground floor with amounts ranging from 1,000 tons and up. One speculator offered to sell his contract for $20 to $22 a ton F.O.B., taking for his share over 46 1/2 per cent profit, without the expenditure of a dollar in actual money.

The 100,000 tons already mentioned can be obtained within a half day's haul of the station of Swan Lake, but as much more can be got with a little more trouble and slightly longer haul.

It is up to the government to take immediate steps to place a price, say the figure set by the rancher of 15h north—$15 a ton—as the price to be paid for what is vital to the stock interests of the country and also to the cause for which the country is making such sacrifices. It is hard to believe that there are men calling themselves Canadians and Americans who in cold blood fatten on necessities of their own flesh and blood. This thing can be killed instantly and is up to the government to administer the coup de grace at once.

VENGEANCE AND THE WOMAN

Planning arrears are employed by outlaws in the second episode of "Vengeance—and the Woman," Greater Vitaphone wonderful new adventure serial, to effect the capture of Black's young wife who bravely holds them at bay with her rifle. Screened in the outdoors this is one of the striking realistic scenes in the big picture and will be seen in the Veteran Theatre Fri. and Sat. July 26 and 27th. The outlaws surround the little Mountain Home in which are Bessie, a man servant, and a maid. There is a lively rifle battle in which two outlaws are wounded and Black Jack realizes that he can not hope to run the house. Then Commanche Pete, who's skill with his bows and arrows freed the bandit leaders from prison, again volunteers. Rapping the head of an Arrow in pitch, he lights it and sends it flaming torch into the tinder light roof of Blakes' home. Other arrows follow and soon the house is in flames and the occupants, choked and blinded, are driven into the open. The two servants are shot down but Bessie is spared for Black Jack and, pulling her up on his horse, he rides away.

William Duncan directs the Serial and plays the part of Black Jack. Holloway is Bessie, his wife.

A continuation of this serial will appear in this paper each week in advance to the showing of each episode.

AUSTRIA-HUNGARY THINKS WAR SENSELESS BLOODSHED

Amsterdam, July 17.—The Austro-Hungarian government regards the war as "senseless" and believes it might be ended at the moment when the allies again manifest feelings of humanity. Baron Burian, Austria-Hungarian foreign minister, made this statement in the concluding portion of his address to the Austrian and Hungarian premiers Tuesday, according to dispatches from Vienna.

After declaring that the Allies would not succeed in their purpose of sowing discord among the nationalities in the dual monarchy the foreign minister said: "It is unnecessary further to characterize this method of fighting. Our races indignantly disavow it. The resolute battle of defence must now be carried on to a good end until it brings us the security necessary for our future peaceful existence."

There should be no public belief that diplomatic action and warfare action are inseparable. For foreign minister declared that warfare and diplomacy served the same end in time of war, adding: "In every step it takes, diplomatic activity will pay due regard to the war. The results of the conduct of the war will have a determining influence on the division of labor. On the other hand, diplomacy has a duty, being continually on the watch and paying heed to the possibilities of effective activity."

"Thus and not otherwise should the willingness of the central powers for peace be conceived. It will not for the moment hamper the invincible defenses, but after victorious battles, just as during pauses in a battle, it will, even without new peace offers, always be intent on recalling that we regard the war as senseless and purposeless bloodshed which might at any moment be ended by the reemergence of feelings of humanity in our enemies.

"Insofar as they are not aiming at the acquisition of territory they are fighting against a windmill. They are exhausting their strength and ours is order to build on the ruins of civilization a new arm of the world, whereas the ideas underlying such an arrangement which are capable of realization and which also are warmly approved by us, might be realized much more easily and much more completely by the peaceable cooperation of all peoples.

"In spite of all, we look ever more hopefully toward the people now at war with us to see whether at last they have been delivered from the blindness, which after fearful afflictions in four years of war, is driving the world ever farther into that destruction which they can avert if they only will."

The foreign minister said that his confidence was based on the war alliances, particularly the old alliances with Germany. He said Austria and Hungary would seek means of extending the alliance so that it will be adequate for all the requirements of new times.

"In these endeavors," he continued, "the governments know they are in agreement with the desires of the preponderating mass of their people. The Alliance will hence as hitherto, preserve its exclusively defensive character. It will also rest firmly on the satisfactory solution of all questions and on the necessities of joint concern which have arisen from the war. It must therefore, not only cover political relationships of the two powers, but must also lead to changes under altered conditions."

"Economic, military and other relations in the future are to be drawn closer. The agreement must compromise a solution with due regard to desires of the populations, of the questions connected with the re-birth of Poland.

"Henceforth, the alliance will not mean a threat or unfriendliness toward anyone. Nothing will be included in it calculated to offer a stimulus to the formation of counter groups. Everything which in the future can be realized of the sublime idea of a universal league of nations shall find in our alliance no obstacle, but a favorable nucleus and a prepared group which can easily and naturally unite with every general combination of states resting on concrete principles."

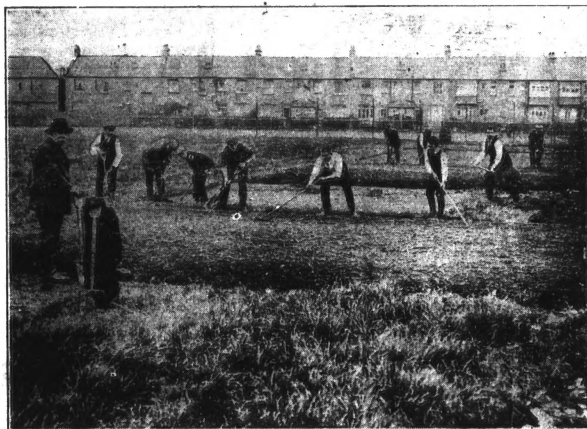

Foreign Minister Burian said Austria expected after the war remain in closer relations with Turkey and Bulgaria.

After declaring "that the continuation of the war is due exclusively to the one-sided and destructive aims of the enemy which can only be attained over the ruins of the world," the foreign minister concluded by quoting the final words of the reply of Emperor Charles to the Pope's peace note.

Labor unrest in Canada is assuming proportions such as call for more expert and careful handling than has come from the Dominion labor department. Will it be equal to the occasion?

Canadian Editors en route to the war front have arrived in England. The voyage across the Atlantic is said to have been altogether uneventful. This must have been a severe trial to the editor. Days and days on the vasty deep and not a thing happening worth a scare head.

Since the war began, Dunkirk France, has been bombarded from the air, sea, and land no less than four hundred times and is still doing business on the old stand. The bombing business has become rather much of a habit apparently to the Dunkirkites.

GERMANY A NATION OF DEGENERATES

Those who say, "O, on the whole the German people are all right," will please read the following statistics of that nation, compiled long years before the war. That they are a depraved nation is conclusively proved.

A perusal of the figures makes clear to the mind the utter nonsense of the claim of the Hun to be a superior race, to be supermen, whose duty and right is to read their culture and to rule the world. The claim would be grotesque, if it were not so horrible.

There is another point of view. Such a record of crimes of violence and lust, makes it easy to understand how readily the army of such a race would follow the national propensity, and commit all the vile horrors they have been guilty of in the war.

It is well, therefore, to bear all this in mind and also to remember that as a degenerate nation Germany had for a long time before the war and during the war, reached a depth of appalling depravity and immorality which is almost inconceivable, and is well worthy of notice by our people. Here are some statistics of crime in Germany, per million of population.

Annual Average	1897-1907
Murder	350
Incest	573
Rape	9,381
Assault	172,153
Wilful damage to Property	25,759
Divorce Petitions	20,340
Illegitimate births	178,115
Suicide	299

The above figures show that in Germany there were 40,110 cases of incest and 116,670 cases of rape, a grand showing for a nation that attempts to impose "culture" on the world.

The figures are taken from the German Imperial statistics of 1908. These statistics will open the eyes of many who see that, just as the Germans by their teaching will stop at no cruelty or brutality in warfare which will bring them military advantage, so no dirty trick in the way of this insidious propaganda is too dirty for them if it will in any way serve their purpose by tending to undermine their opponents.

There is no doubt whatever that these facts and figures show that the degeneration in Germany is of a nature of which our people have no conception.

IMPROVEMENT SHOWN NEW CROP REPORT

Winnipeg, July 16.—The weekly crop reports along the C.N.R. lines in the west indicate a slight improvement on the whole over the conditions reported the previous week. In Manitoba the majority of crop reports are fairly cheerful while in Saskatchewan and Alberta, conditions are somewhat improved in Canadian Northern territory, and there has been rain in some districts since these reports were received. Following is a summary of conditions indicated in the crop report:

Manitoba—Jedgerville, Rainy River, Thunderville, Emerson, Rosburn, Evan River, subdivisions are very good. Promise of a fair crop is reported from Carman and Dauphin subdivisions. The Brandon subdivision promises an average crop. Carberry, Rapid city, Neepawa expect a light crop, while conditions are very poor on Wanawana and Oak Point subdivisions.

Saskatchewan—Good reports are received from Yorkton, Prince Albert, Carlton and Shellbrook subdivisions; fair to average crops are expected on Kamsack, Humboldt, Saskatoon, Kindersley, Battleford, Duck Lake, Sturgeon river River Subdivisions, with a number of districts threatened with almost total failure of wheat crop. Alberta—Conditions are very promising along the Edmonton, Vermillion, St. Albert, Athabasca and Stony Plain subdivisions, a light crop only is expected on the Calgary and Hanna subdivisions, while an average crop seems to be indicated in reports from the Battle River and Alliance districts.

On the whole the crop is bound to be late, and the advent of heavy rains followed by clear, hot weather would do much to improve conditions in the prairie provinces especially Alberta and Saskatchewan.

A Whitty Ont., man drank big gun and died. The result might have been just as serious had he drunk bay water from some of the bays along old Ontario's shores.

Premier Oliver, British Columbia, thinks that Canadian municipalities should have complete home rule. That sort of thing is impossible in Alberta so long as the Provincial authorities insist in taking large slices of our legitimate revenue from us.

NEW HIGH PRICES FOR COAST SALMON

Vancouver, July 16.—The salmon fishing season on the Fraser River opened on July 1, and will continue until August 25. The season in northern waters commenced eleven days earlier. With many of the fishermen gone the present indications are that those engaged in catching the various types of salmon will be paid a higher price this year than ever before, this increase being due partly to the increased cost of fishing war and of operation in general. At a meeting of the Fraser River Cannery Association last week, opening prices were fixed as follows: Sockeyes 60c, which is the highest opening figure ever offered; red spring, 9 cents, and white spring 5 cents. No price was fixed in the meantime for pinks and cohoes. Last year the opening price for sockeyes was 35 cents and this increased to 65c before the end of the season.

On the American side the fishermen refused to take their boats out at the prices offered, but have offered suggestions which are the subject of negotiations. Local cannery men are in somewhat a dilemma as to the season's contracts, as the Canada Food Board has not yet fixed the prices at which salmon in the can may be sold. The United States board has settled upon its prices, which are as follows: Tails $3.15; flats, $3.25, and halves $2.00, which is an increase of about ten percent over the ruling prices of last year.

MANY SUBS. HAVE BEEN DESTROYED PART 3 MONTHS

London, 18.—Within the past three months, the number of German submarines destroyed has been greater than during any similar period during the war. Depth charges have played an important part in putting an end to the activities of the U-Boats. Details of the sinking of 3 German submarines, 2 of them by British submarines, recently became known in London. A British patrol boat on a moonlight night sighted an enemy submarine on the surface about half a mile distant, she was apparently recharging her storage batteries.

"Full speed ahead," was the command of the patrol boat captain but by the time the boat reached the spot the submarine had disappeared. The British craft immediately dropped depth charges. Quantities of oil came to the surface soon afterwards, and the cries for help in German were heard. The patrol boat searched for survivors of the submarine but was able to secure only one of the enemy.

While on patrol duty "somewhere" off the coast a British submarine sighted the periscope of an enemy U-Boat and started for it at full speed. Before the German could submerge the Britisher had rammed it. The British submarine cut through the plates of the enemy craft and stuck there. The boats endeavored to extricate themselves. The German came almost to the surface carrying the British craft along. Finally the

S.D.A. Conference Closed on Sunday

The annual convention and biennial conference of the Seventh-day Adventists of the province closed the 1918 meeting Sunday night. This was a double session. Conference was for election of officers and laying of plans for the conduct of the denominational business for the ensuing period; while the convention was devotional in nature, and designed for the study of the Bible and the winning of men to a deeper consecration and spirituality of Christ. The latter was far the more important part of the gathering. The chief matter considered by the conference was the work of missions. All other business was subordinated to that purpose. Indeed the whole might be called a missionary gathering.

There was an attendance of somewhat more than the 1,000 planned for. Seventy were baptised at the meeting; others are to be at their home churches. Pastor A. J. Haysmer of Calgary was elected president to succeed pastor H. H. Humann, who has been asked to assume duties in the Western Canadian Union Conference. Mr. F. L. Hommel of Calgary remains as secretary and treasurer.

Some interesting statistics were given at the convention regarding the continually expanding work of Seventh-day Adventists. Several new languages were entered in past year; they now publish literature in 94 languages. Last year the distribution amounted to a value of $2,750,000. Available data from the North American field show a gain of more than 50 per cent. for 1918 thus far over 1917. They are sending more than 100 missionaries yearly from North America alone while others are sent from Europe, Australia and New Zealand. A campaign was launched for this summer to double the attendance in their schools everywhere and to make every student a missionary of the Cross of Christ, as far as possible.

Their missionary activity is due to the fact that they believe the coming of Christ is very near, "even at the door" according to the signs foretold by Christ just prior to his departure, in Matthew 24. Their speakers earnestly declare that, while the date of Christ's advent cannot be known to mortals, grey headed men now alive will live to see the event. In this belief they are very earnest, apparently, and for it they find support in the teachings of Christ. Thus believing they feel it their duty to carry to the whole world during the present generation, the message that the end of the world is at hand, so completing the gospel commission, "Go into all the world and preach the gospel to every creature." And lo, I am with you always even unto the end of the world." They express faith to believe that all Christians are called to do this work now, and that under the blessing of God, they will carry out this colossal program. As an indication of the divine nature of their message and work, they point out the fact acknowledged by others, that in Scriptural basis, character and extent their movement is unparalleled in Christian annals since the days of the apostles. In the present political, social, industrial, financial, and moral conditions of the world, they see the very conditions which the Bible says will exist and constitute the striking signs of the nearness of the second coming of Christ. It is useful to keep these ideas in mind in order to understand the activity and earnestness of this people.

The place for next year's meeting was not decided upon; but Lacombe, Edmonton and Lethbridge are under consideration. Following the convention the board of the academy is to meet to consider some improvements to be made this summer.

Pastor E. W. Farnsworth from California preached the closing sermon of the convention Sunday evening on "Sabbath Observance." He felt himself in agreement with the words of Dr. Marr of the Canadian Bible Society of Calgary, who voiced the thought that the present world problems are caused by the failure of the church to follow the Scriptural instruction of Christ. The speaker was sure that "Without question Jesus kept the seventh day as the Sabbath, according to the Commandment. Nowhere in the New Testament is there any intimation that either Christ or his apostles kept the first day of the week, nor is there any command that they should rest on the day called Sunday."

"If we are saved, we must have Christ's right doing imputed to us," he continued. "Nothing short of the absolute perfection from the cradle to the grave will meet the demands of God's law in the Judgment. Christ's sabbath keeping, his baptism, his commandment keeping, in short, his righteousness, is the only thing that will avail for the Christian."

"Every believer in Christ, every man in the world, in every nation under every dispensation, will have the true sabbath keeping of Christ written opposite his name in the books of heaven, if his faith lays hold of Christ as shown by the fact that he walks in all the light God's Holy Spirit makes clear to him. 'Blessed are they whose iniquities are forgiven and whose sins are covered. Blessed is the man to whom the Lord will not impute sin.' Romans 4:7, 8. 'If you walk in the light as He is in the light, we have fellowship one with another, and the blood of Jesus Christ his son cleanseth us from all sin.' 1 John 1:7.

"God makes a complete change in the sinner as soon as the sinner accepts Christ as his saviour. 'He hath made him to be sin for us who knew no sin, that we might be made the righteousness of God in him.' Corinthians 5:21. But if Christ really dwells in our hearts and he will lead us to 'walk even as he walked,' 1 John 2:6. 'Even hereunto were ye called: because Christ also suffered for us leaving an example that ye should follow in his steps,' 1 Peter 2:21. 'If any man will come after me, let him deny himself and take up his cross daily and follow me.' Luke 9:2.

"Follow me" was the command of Peter, and it applies to every other disciple. It makes no difference to you what John or anyone else does. What sabbath did Jesus keep?—He kept the seventh day. But have not the apostles and church kept the first day of the week ever since Christ rose from the dead? (wherever in the New Testament is there any command or even intimation that they did or that they rested on the resurrection day. No writer, either Protestant or Catholic, ever claimed to discover in the New Testament any statement clearly authorizing the observance of the first day of the week.

The first day of the week is mentioned but eight times in the New Testament, as follows: Matthew 28:1; Mark 16: 1, 2, 9; Luke 24:1, 20-21, 19; Acts 20:7, 11; 1 Corinthians 16:2.

"None of these scriptures say that Christians rested on that day. History tells us that the practice was not immediately introduced into the church; on the contrary, the Sabbath was kept by the Apostles during their life time, and by the church for many years after ward, before first day keeping became at all general. And this fact has been recognized by leaders in the great Protestant denominations as the following quotations show.

"No less a person than W. E. Gladstone said, as printed in the church monthly: 'The seventh day has been deposited from its time to obligatory religious observance, and its prerogative has been carried over to the first, under no direct precept of scripture.'"

"And Canon Eytton, the learned Anglican minister, in his book, 'The Ten Commandments,' published by Trubner and Co., wrote: 'No commandment of God bids us do this or that on Sunday; we are absolutely free as far as his law goes. The observance of Ash Wednesday or Lent stands on exactly the same footing as the observance of Sunday.'

"Constantine's decree was the first public step in establishing the first day of the week as a day on which there should be secular rest as well as religious worship... Into the rest of Sunday no Divine law enters."

"Centuries of the Christian era passed away before Sunday was observed as the sabbath," says Sir William Domville in his book entitled "The Examination of Six Texts."

"It is quite clear that however rigidly or devoutly we will spend Sunday we are not keeping the sabbath. The sabbath was founded on a specific divine command. We can plead no such command for the observance of Sunday. There is not a single sentence in the New Testament to suggest that we incur a penalty by violating the supposed sanctity of Sunday." These words are from Dr. R. W. Dale in "The Ten Commandments," published by Hodder and Stoughton.

And Dr. Isaac Williams in "Plain Sermons on the Catechism," Longman and Co. says: "The reason why we keep the first day of the week holy instead of the seventh is for the same reason that we observe many other things, not because the Bible, but because the church enjoined it."

"Of those who follow the Bible as their guide, the Israelites and Seventh-day Adventists have the exclusive weight of evidence on their side, while the biblical Protestant has not a word in self-defence for his substitution of Sunday for Saturday." This is from the "Catholic Mirror", the official organ of Cardinal Gibbons.

"The foregoing statements are all from observers of the Sunday, and some of them occur in the midst of appeals for more strict observance of Sunday. If there were any scripture authority for the observance of Sunday, they would have cited it instead of saying that there is none. Read the Bible carefully, and you will find the same thing for yourself," continued the speaker.

"The world is guilty of sin for its violation of God's law. Christ died to safeguard that perfect law and to enable us to keep it. There is a great religious crisis coming to the whole earth. It will hinge on obedience to God's law and Word. It does make an eternal difference whether we obey the Word of God or the custom of men. Christ is calling us to follow his example of perfect obedience to the 'It is written, of scripture. And tonight, as his ambassador, I call all men to the side of Christ and of obedience to the Scriptures.'
